Wholesale Slaughter Of Christian Armenians Continues To Grow In Horror.

TWO AMERICAN MISSIONARIES DEAD

Sixty Armenians Murdered, And Streets Run Red With Blood-Much Pillaging And Destruction Of Property.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Constantinople, April 16.—Further details of the terrible slaughter of the Christian Armenians at Adana continue to come in but the official list of the dead has not yet been reported although it is said it will be very large.

Two Missionaries Dead?
One report received this morning announces that two American missionaries who were stationed at Adana were murdered by the mob of Moslems last night but thus far there has been no confirmation of this report either at the American Embassy or government headquarters.

Anti-Armenian.
The outbreak was purely anti-Armenian and the Moslems mobbed and burned houses, assaulting women and young girls and looting the homes of their victims of all property before setting fire to the structures. The majority of those killed were Christians.

Sixty Killed.
One of the negro reports received from Adana says that in all sixty Christian Armenians were killed by the mob who did much damage other-wise to property. The reported death of the missionaries is given credence in this dispatch although not authentic.

Plan Protection.
Despite the troubled condition of Constantinople the government is making plans to protect the Christians and the foreign officials are most urgent that the rioting reported be stopped at once. The city is quiet today the troops having returned to their quarters.

Berlin Dispatch.
Berlin, April 16.—This afternoon a dispatch received from Adana in Asia Minor says that Adana has been a scene of wholesale massacre and that a horrible massacre is being carried on in the streets.

Join Rioters.
Mordun, April 16.—The massacre of Armenians at Adana continues. The troops are powerless to control the situation and some of the soldiers are joining in the pillage of the city.

Manitowoc News of General Nature— Young Girl Arrested—Surrender Insurance Policy.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Manitowoc, April 16.—M. H. Murphy of this city, who resigned a position as general sales agent and manager with the company a few months ago, has returned to the American Seating Works company, as manager of the Manitowoc plant and assumed his new position today.

Mr. Murphy served with the company and then retired to organize the Manitowoc Seating Works company, but the project has been deferred as a result of his return to the American company. E. F. Hubbard, a Manitowoc man in charge of the Chicago agency for the company, has retired.

Mamie Radtka, the Clarke Mills girl who confessed to being the mother of a dead child taken from the river at Oshkosh days ago, has been arrested on a charge of concealing a birth and her mother, Mrs. Ida Radtka, will also be arrested, say the authorities. The girl pleads not guilty and the hearing in the case will be set for April 22. The girl is sixteen years old and was saved from a murder's charge by the verdict of the coroner's jury which was that the child was born dead.

S. C. Terens, the Alhambra man who is bankrupt, has surrendered the $1800 insurance policies over which there was a contest and his wife has now filed a claim for equity in the policies on the ground that she had paid four of the annual premiums on the policies. The premiums are $38 per year and Mrs. Terens wants her full claim of $332. There are several questions raised in the case which will probably throw it into the courts for adjudication. Terens was formerly prominent as a democratic politician and was a merchant at Alhambra.

Chances are good that the Manitowoc Insurance association will lose $100 as a result of the release of Kuba Boyers, a former local twirler, by Minneapolis of the American association. Boyers was taken from Manitowoc last year on promise that if the youngster stood up and made good, the team here would be paid $100 for him. Boyers played the end of last season and was retained by the Millers this season, but has now been sent to Winona and the association here fears it cannot get the $100.

A favorable report to the legislature on bill 2684 in favor of Manitowoc as a central system of schools at an early date. The bill was drafted here and clears up defects in the old law to permit cities to adopt the central system.

Are Engrossing the Attention of Po- litical and Social Scientists at Philadelphia.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Philadelphia, Pa., April 16.—Several hundred men and women who have won national reputation in political and social fields were in attendance when the American Academy of Political and Social Science opened its thirteenth annual session today. The opening meeting this morning was held in the rooms of the City club, on Walnut street, where a special exhibit on heredity in cities had been arranged, which was in charge of Dr. Benjamin C. Marsh, formerly of Philadelphia.

The afternoon session was held in the afternoon hall and the subject for discussion was "The Relative Importance of Heredity and Environment in Race Improvement." This was the first of the sub-topics of the two main topics to be discussed at the present session, "Race Improvement in the United States" and "The Development of Physical Welfare Through Social Environment."

Tomorrow will be the closing day of the meeting. In the morning a special meeting of the academy for a clinical study in mental development will be held in the psychological laboratory of the University of Pennsylvania. This will be under the direction of Professor Lightner Witmer. The meeting on Saturday afternoon, the Witherspoon hall will be devoted to a discussion of "Obstacles to Race Progress in the United States," the topics to be considered being the drug habit, alcoholism and the effect of industrial employment upon women.

At the closing session on Saturday evening in Witherspoon hall, "The Problem of Immigration to the United States" will be discussed. The principal speaker will be Professor William Z. NEGRO FIGHTERS TO MEET IN PARIS

Sam McVey and Joe Jeannette in Final Battle for Heavyweight Supremacy.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Paris, April 16.—An unusually large demand for tickets gives evidence of the public interest displayed in the final fight at Woodland tomorrow night between the American negro heavyweight, Sam McVey, and Joe Jeannette. The fight is expected to settle the long-disputed question of supremacy between the two big negroes. A few weeks ago they met in a twenty-round bout, and the referee reversed his decision in favor of McVey. Interest in the coming battle has been increased by the fact that the winner will probably be matched to fight Sam Langford before the National Sporting club of London next month.

The two crews are believed to be more evenly matched this year and an interesting race is expected.

BIG TESTIMONIAL FOR CLARA MORRIS

Notable Aggregation of Noted Players Appearing in Benefit Performance at New York.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, April 16.—One of the greatest aggregations of noted players that New York has had an opportunity to see in a long time appeared on the stage of the New York theatre this afternoon at a big testimonial performance given for the benefit of Miss Clara Morris, whom the older playgoers remember as one of the famous actresses of her day. The Twelfth Night club organized the benefit for Miss Morris, who of late has been ill and pained with debts.

Among the well known actors and actresses who contributed their services to the performance were E. H. Sothern, Wilton Lackaye, Frank Worthing, Edwin Arden, Henry Miller, Chumley O'Leary, Lawrence D'O'Leary, Virginia Harney, Grace George, Frances Starr, Elsie Janis, Eleanor Morell and Elita Proctor. Miss Morris herself appeared in Othello, a short scene from "Macbeth" and was given an enthusiastic reception.

Clara Morris, who is now in her sixtieth year, retired from the stage about ten years ago on account of ill health. She is a native of Toronto, but was educated in Cleveland and made her first stage appearance at the Academy of Music in that city in 1861. She advanced rapidly in the profession and in 1869 became leading woman at Wood's theatre in Cincinnati. The following year she joined Augustin Daly's company at the Fifth Avenue theatre and here she became famous in emotional roles. Probably her most famous portrayal was that of "Camille" in which she was seen in all of the principal cities of America.

WHAT DELAYS WORK OF BUILDING ROADS

Mr. Beggs of Milwaukee Explains Laws Have Kept Capital from Investing in State.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., April 16.—As a result of the legislation in Wisconsin not a single electric railway company has been incorporated in this state in the last two years, was one of the statements made by J. I. Beggs of Milwaukee yesterday before the joint committee on transportation. Mr. Beggs in the role of president and general manager of the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light company and the Milwaukee Light, Heat and Traction company appeared before the committee to argue against the passage of the John T. Kelly amendment to the Burns Interstate franchise bill, No. 332A. The social measure of Mr. Beggs contemplates making indeterminate all the franchises of public utility corporations. The Kelly amendment places electric railways under the same rule. Mr. Beggs objects to the object of the bill and the amendment.

"The act of 1907 greatly strengthened and protected the electric railways," said Mr. Beggs, "but this new proposed act would greatly weaken them. As the laws now exist it is next to impossible to launch any new electric railway project. This new provision not only would preclude the possibility of opening up new country with trolley lines but would endanger the safety of present railways. What person will have the audacity to incorporate when the franchises have no stated time in which to run? If any city or town in which a railway operates is given the privilege of buying up the property at any time, what will our hands be worth?"

As one argument against the bill Mr. Beggs gave an illustration, saying: "Assume, for instance, that the bill passed and Milwaukee decided to exercise its rights. It could not extend its authority beyond the city limits. What would the city do with these extensions? Then again, imagine the complications and unsettled conditions in regard to the interurban lines. We have a line extending through West Allis, Wauwatosa, Delafield, Oconomowoc and Watertown. Suppose each of these cities decided to buy up the franchise of the lines running through each municipality. It would be like cutting the jugular vein into pieces and expecting it to perform its functions."

"The Milwaukee millionaire trolley magnate was asked several questions by members of the committee and displayed to advantage his well-known sense of humor."

Following up the jugular vein argument of Mr. Beggs, Mr. Culbertson asked what the result would be when the present franchises began to expire.

"Let's see, our Milwaukee franchise expires in 1934 or 1935; I don't remember which. Anybody can tell me, Mr. Kelly," the interrogation being directed at City Attorney Kelly, who sat across the room. Mr. Kelly replied that the franchises expired December 31, 1935, and Mr. Beggs observed:

"Well, as a matter of fact, we're not worrying much about what will happen twenty-five years from now."

"Some of us will be dead then," said an elderly member of the committee.

"Well, I hope that Mr. Kelly will be alive after I'm dead," said Mr. Beggs.

"I think, however, that we'll both go about the same time."

In closing his argument Mr. Beggs said that the passage of the bill and the amendment would make practically impossible the street railway franchise in Wisconsin and that passage would sound the knell of trolley development in this state.

Chairman E. W. Lofley of the assembly committee said after the hearing that no action would be taken in executive session for some time.

WHITEHEAD'S BILL WILL BE PASSED

PLAN TO HAVE CITIES OF SECOND AND THIRD CLASS SPECIAL- LY GOVERNED.

RULE BY THE COMMISSION

Prospects for Its Being Accepted Ap- pear Very Good At This Time in Madison.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., April 16.—Wisconsin cities of the second, third and fourth classes will doubtless be given by this legislature the opportunity to adopt the commission form of municipal government, which is in use in Texas, Minnesota, and other states to some extent.

The Whitehead bill providing that cities after affirmative majority vote may adopt the commission system, had been revised and the senate committee on villages and cities has determined unanimously to report the measure Tuesday with a recommendation in favor of enactment.

There is little doubt that it will pass the senate, but that body two years ago passed a somewhat similar bill which was introduced by former Senator J. H. Noble, of Eau Claire. Sentiment is strong in the assembly in favor of giving Wisconsin cities this option.

The revised bill provides that upon petition of 25 per cent or more of the voters of a city, the proposition of adopting the commission form of municipal government shall be submitted to the voters of that city and if in the election the proposition receives a favorable majority vote, the commission form of government outlined in the bill shall be adopted.

In all classes of cities the commission shall consist of three commissioners besides the mayor, the salaries, differing in the size of the city, varying in cities of the second class ($500 per year), the salary of the mayor shall be $1,500 a year and of each commissioner $4,000; in cities of the third class the mayor shall receive $1,000 and the commissioners each $3,500, and in smaller places the salaries range downward to $1,500 for the mayor and $1,000 for each commissioner.

The greatest publicity is provided for citizens and accounts, also for public measures coming before the commission, and it is provided in the bill that upon petition after the enactment of a city measure, such measure must be the subject of a referendum vote before it becomes effective.

The civil service feature of selecting city employees, which was embodied in the original Whitehead bill has been cut out by the committee, the members deeming it preferable to leave the commissioners unhampered in their selection of employees.

RECEIVES FUNDS OF THE GAME WARDENS

State Treasurer Has Pleasant Report From Funds Not Yet Paid Into Treasury.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., April 16.—The treasury of the state was enriched by $4,400 through the collection of this amount by the state game warden yesterday from State Game Warden J. W. Stone. The sum was for licenses issued in October, 1907, and January, 1908 for pound notes, but for some reason was never turned into the state treasury.

State Treasurer A. H. Dahl learned of the matter late in March and wrote a letter to the attorney general asking that he give an opinion as to why the money should not be turned over to the treasury. Later, Mr. Dahl wrote a letter to the attorney general, to which the latter replied on April 8, in which the question was raised as to whether the treasury should not collect interest "under the circumstances surrounding these particular cases."

In his reply Attorney General Gilbert pointed out that he has been unable to interview Mr. Stone regarding the matter and declares in the opinion that "should it develop later on, when Mr. Stone can be interviewed, and his explanation received, that he acted from other than an honest mistake in withholding the money, interest should be collected from him. If this money, apparently held for the purpose of the outcome of some litigation, actually grows in interest while he had it in the bank, such interest belongs to the state, irrespective of the principal at this time will not preclude the state from collecting interest, if the fact is ascertained later, warrant it."

NO FIGHT ON JAS. A. PATTEN

ATTORNEY GENERAL UNDECIDED
CONCERNING THE CORNER
ON WHEAT.

FLOUR AND BREAD GOING UP

Representative Scott of Kansas Introduces a Bill in the House Penalizing
the Gambling in Futures on Grain.

Washington, Apr. 10.—No steps have been taken by the department of justice to smash the corner in wheat held by James A. Patten of Chicago.
It has not been "officially" reported to Attorney General Wickersham and until it is so says he will take no action.
Mr. Wickersham returned to Washington from Philadelphia yesterday afternoon. When asked about possible action to stop or regulate the manipulation of the wheat market he laughed and said: "I know nothing about a corner except from newspaper report. He declined to discuss the subject further.

Difficulty in Discriminating.
The difficulty of discriminating between the dealing in "futures" legitimately and for the purpose of speculation was explained by an official in this way:

"The trouble with handling such things by law is that it is impossible to determine what is legitimate and what is merely gambling operation.
The cotton manufacturer in Manchester sells his cloth all over the world. He has to sell it for delivery after it is made. To be assured of the material with which to make it, he places an order with New York or New Orleans
cotton brokers for a supply of cotton, contracting to take a certain amount
each month, and agreeing on the price.

Must Know the Cost.
"That is dealing in futures, of course, but the manufacturer must be assured in advance that he will have the cotton, and he must know what it will cost him, in order that he may know the prices he will put on the goods made from it. This is the situation throughout a wide range of industries.

"This man Patten deals in real wheat; the way a corner is broken is by the delivery of actual wheat in such quantities as to swamp the operator. There is difficulty about framing a law to prevent a man buying up all the wheat in the country, if he wants it; there might be some means of preventing him manipulating the price
after he gets it all, but the processes of nature ordinarily and the trouble
quicker than those of law could do it."

Scott Introduces Bill.
Representative Scott of Kansas Introduced in the house his bill to penalize gambling in futures of grain.
This measure is designed to prevent the possibility of such corners or manipulation of the wheat market as that now being conducted by Patten.

The bill provides that it shall be unlawful for any person or association to transmit by telegraph, telephone or otherwise any contract for the sale of grain or cotton unless the contract calls for the actual delivery of the commodity. There are heavy penalties for the violation of this section.
Other persons contributing to this procedure are penalized in the bill.
It was referred to the committee on agriculture.

To Raise Bread Prices.
Kansas City, Mo., Apr. 10.—"A smaller loaf of bread or a dime for the present size." This is the declaration of the Consumers' Bread Company, an organization of bakers formed here several months ago and including practically all of the bakers of Kansas City. B. Howard Smith, president of the company, said the wholesale price
of standard flour had risen 40 cents
a hundred pounds in 30 days.

New York's Poor to Suffer.
New York, Apr. 10.—With flour up 40 cents a barrel in the local market, and the prospects apparently good for a further rise, New York city is now facing the possibility of bread at seven cents a loaf. What will appear to hundreds of thousands in the poorer quarters like famine rates for this staple of all families bids fair to be forced as a result of the recent rise in the price of wheat.

No Increase at Cleveland.
Cleveland, O., Apr. 10.—Although the price of flour has advanced 40 cents on the barrel here in the last fortnight, local bakers have decided not to advance the cost of bread for at least another week. They will meet next week and if the price of wheat has not fallen probably will take some action to raise the price of their products. Winter wheat flour is selling at $0.75 a barrel.

New England is Flooded.
Boston, Apr. 10.—Swollen by the heavy rain of Wednesday and yesterday, and by the melting of the lingering remnant of the winter's snow on the northern hillsides, all the streams of New England assumed freshet proportions today and the high water
in some of them caused much damage.
Railroad tracks were flooded, road-beds washed out, culverts carried away, trains held up, and factories forced to shut down in various parts of Northern New England.

candidate, Laurence Michael Burke Morrisey, just past 23 years old, was the successful candidate at the recent election by a majority of 806 votes.
Judge Morrissey was born in Sena-boro, Paweshlok Co., Iowa, in 1885 and removed to Ottumwa when but two years old. He finished the common grade schools in 1900 and four years later was graduated from the high school with honors. During his early school life Morrissey displayed unusual hunting abilities, having in view
a course through college. He earned papers worked in a retail and wholesale stores and during two vacations
he was employed by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad as a track laborer, doing the hardest manual work. In the high school he was prominent in all athletics, being a star at baseball, basketball and football. He entered the state university of Iowa in the fall of 1901 taking one year in the collegiate department and afterwards was graduated with the class of 1908 from the law department.
Three seasons he won his "P" as a guard on the state university basketball team. Morrissey was also prominent in the university dramatic and literary societies. Judge Morrissey is the junior member of the law

Currency Hard to Carry.

as a deterrent feature in embezzlement.

The quality of a piano is so largely beneath the surface that purchasing one is usually like a "step in the dark" and the average purchaser secures either a musical instrument or an article of furniture that is a piano in looks only. Tone and Durability are two of the most important things about a piano. The tone of the BRIGGS PIANO is most wonderfully pure and sweet. Their durability has been proven by their past record of forty one years on the market and very rarely is there seen a second hand Briggs Piano for sale. Scores of the leading artists and musicians of the world are using the BRIGGS PIANO.
It is sold strictly on its merits and if you purchase one, you will not be taking "a step in the dark," you will have something more in your home
than a piece of furniture.

with Swiss Gunners.

(Special to The Gazette.)
New Glarus, Wis., April 16.—Members of the William Tell Rifle club received a challenge from the Glarus sharpshooters' club of Switzerland for a team shoot, each team shooting on the home range and exchange targets. This contest will be very interesting for the people here and abroad and good scores from our boys will be expected. Those who take part in this contest of our club are: S. A. Schindler, at present state champion, I. M. Schmid, Dr. H. Hooley, John Theller and Albert Schindler, all good marksmen. TO LEARN OF NEEDS FOR Y. M. C. A. WORK

Carlisle V. Hubbard and E. T. Colton of New York Guests of Honor at Dinner at Myers Hotel This Evening.

This evening at six-thirty o'clock twenty-five representative business and professional men of Janesville, interested in the work of the Y. M. C. A., and particularly in the field of the foreign endeavors of the association, will sit down to dinner in the Myers Hotel Ordinary. Carlisle V. Hubbard, whose work in Japan and later in the Japanese army during the war with Russia, is remembered by Janesville people, and E. T. Colton of New York city, foreign secretary of the work, will be the guests of honor. A committee of Janesville men, composed of J. A. Craig, T. E. Bonham, J. C. Hazen, S. M. Smith and A. E. Matheson have issued invitations for the dinner and arranged the talks which will follow. One feature that will be discussed will be the work of the association in the far east and plan with a view of establishing a Y. M. C. A. branch at Dalny in Manchuria. Mr. Hubbard was in Manchuria during the Russian war and at Dalny, now called Dairen by the Japanese, and is most enthusiastic over the prospects of his being the means of establishing headquarters at this important point.

WAS SEVERELY INJURED THIS MORNING WHILE PLAYING THIS MORNING

Little Son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles
Gage Dislocated Jaw Striking
His Head Against Pole.
James Gage, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gage of 515 South Second street, fell against a pole while playing this morning, dislocating his jaw and knocking his front teeth out. Dr. Munn was called and cared for the little fellow, who suffered much pain. The boy was running ahead of his brother, who was on a bicycle, and turned to look back, striking the pole with the side of his head. In falling his jaw became even more fixed, making the injury if anything more painful.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

No Woodman Plank: At the convention of the Woodmen, held in Beloit, it was decided not to have a plank as has been the custom in former years. The expense of the affair is very great and the plans have been postponed until 1910. A plank will then be held in Keosauqua.

Mysterious Stone-Thrower: The mysterious stone-thrower is abroad again. About a year ago several plate glass windows on Milwaukee and Main streets were broken in an inexplicable fashion. During the noon hour yesterday employees of the T. P. Burns dry goods establishment were startled by a crash which seemed to come from the plate glass facing the alley and on investigation found a hole in the pane which had evidently been caused by the impact of a stone. But no one was in sight who could be suspected of committing such a deed.

Father Condon Here: Rev. Father J. A. Condon of Los Angeles, formerly of Madison, will be in the service at St. Patrick's church on Sunday.

Meeting Postponed: The Ladies' Night Meeting of the Social Union club has been set for the evening of May 4. W. C. Daland of Milton College will be one of the speakers on this occasion.

Welcome Infant Son: Mr. and Mrs. Bert G. Boalin are rejoicing over the arrival of an infant son at their home in the Grubb this last evening.

Executed a Dog: In response to a call from a family named Porter residing at 10 Division street, Chief Appleby and Officer Patrick Fanning this afternoon visited the premises and executed a dog which some unknown party had shot and wounded but failed to kill.

Cost Mr. Grundy $22.50: According to a statement filed by Samuel Grundy, who was candidate for the nomination for alderman in the Fourth ward, the primary election cost him $22.50. Of this amount $12 went to workers, $8 to carriages, and $2.50 was invested in cigars.

New Incorporation: Articles of incorporation of the Carlisle-Hubbard Timber Co., of Janesville, capital stock of $100,000 divided into shares of $100 each, have been filed with the register of deeds. The incorporators are Alton P. and Henry Elmer Loveloy and Miss Margaret D. MacGregor.

RUGS AND CURTAINS

Our great spring sale which opened Thursday is interesting to hundreds of people just now. The way the rugs are selling, particularly the rugs made from our own carpets and borders, show that prices, the unusually low prices which we have indicated by the people. We commenced the sale with fifty of these rugs and they are going rapidly. Our stock of rugs generally which we show in every size made from the smallest up to 11-3x18 is something wonderful. Of the well known popular makes which we carry you can find no larger assortment in the largest cities and by buying in Janesville you save from $2.00 to $5.00.

Our curtain department is doing a great business. The reason is plain to anyone. With such a stock to select from at prices from 50c to $2.00 less than the same qualities can be bought anywhere it is not to be wondered at. We have left no stone unturned to get our stock of curtains, nets, draperies and couch covers in the best possible shape for large selling. If you have a need for floor coverings or curtains you should make a bee-line for The Big Store during this great sale. No one is going away dissatisfied. We have the stuff.

Seek to Prevent Burial Alive.

Members of an English organization known as the Association for the Prevention of Premature Burial are endeavoring to form similar societies in this country, and great numbers of circulars containing gruesome statistics are being sent to persons in all parts of the country. It is proposed to take from relatives and undertakers the right to make the death diagnosis and to allow only physicians to do this and to apply the tests for the establishment of the fact that the person is really dead. The society proposes also to establish "waiting mortuaries," "lighted," ventilated and pleasantly furnished, where bodies may be placed under observation until there is no longer any doubt as to death.

Stood Test of 16 Years Hard Service

Some time ago the assistant auditor of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Coal & Transportation Co., with headquarters in Kansas City, Mo., was in this city. He visited Mr. W. W. Old, friend of sixteen years ago in St. Louis, when he was a student in Stratton's Business College and was in Dental College.

Amidst other recollections brought up, he said: "You see these three crowns you put on for me sixteen years ago? There they are; AS GOOD AS NEW. Never have loosened or broken."

20 years of experience has fitted me to do even better work than ever before and with my "NO-PAIN" method dentistry is easy for you. As to my prices, you will find them MODERATE compared with what you have possibly been paying.

MUCH INTEREST IN THE PROJECT

PROMOTERS OF THE PROPOSED FAIR FIND MANY READY TO TALK.

SOME STOCK SUBSCRIBED

Shares Are Fifty Dollars Each—Ten Thousand Dollars Is Still Needed for Successful Issue.

Many farmers in the immediate vicinity of Janesville are much interested in the project of holding a fair here next fall. The members of the soliciting committee who were out yesterday report several good sized stock subscriptions and on a return visit expect to receive others who wanted to think the matter over.

"Taking it all in all," said Mr. Putnam last evening, "we have reason to feel encouraged. The shares are fifty dollars each and as we have not thoroughly canvassed the city with what we have hopes of receiving in the county the fair should be assured. However, there are still several thousand dollars to be raised and this all within a week."

"We must make definite answer to our option on the grounds at that time as well as begin work for improvements, buildings, fences, track and arrangements for the fair itself. The time is short but all the members of the committee are hustling and we hope to have a satisfactory report to make inside of a week."

While the temporary organization has not yet drawn up any definite plans for the fair or improvement of the grounds it has been suggested that the present buildings would all have to be rebuilt, the fences repaired and a new one put up in several places, the grand stand remodelled and enlarged and the track changed.

This all takes considerable money and can not be planned until the association is formally organized, which will not be until after the stock is all subscribed. The present plan seems to be to either rent or buy the old fair grounds rather than build or buy a new one in some other location.

WILL MAKE TRIP IN A SMALL BOAT

TO THOROUGHLY INVESTIGATE RIVER FROM JANESVILLE TO STERLING.

CAPTAIN WHEELER PLANS

Will Do This as Soon as the Weather Permits Being Out of Doors All Day.

Actual work on the preliminary survey of the Rock river from Janesville to Sterling, Illinois, is ordered by the War Department under the recent Harbor and Rivers bill passed by the congress, will begin as soon as the weather permits for a party being out of doors all day without danger to their health.

Captain Wheeler of the Government's engineering corps plans to start from Janesville and go by small launch down to Sterling, making a careful examination of the bank and river.

The bill provided for a channel seven feet deep from the dam at the head of the Rock river to Janesville; also, whether for the maintenance of navigation storage reservoirs are necessary at or near the head waters of the Rock river; and also, the determination of the cost of the improvement should be borne by the owners of the water-power rights.

The measure also provides for a four-foot channel from Madison to Janesville, making it possible for water navigation from Madison clear to the Gulf. Captain Wheeler believes the work can be easily accomplished from Dixon to Rockford, but from Rockford to Janesville he thinks that considerable work will have to be done.

Captain Wheeler will, however, investigate this portion of the work, although it is probable that an artificial channel would have to be made between these two cities. The bridges are frequent and all would have to be raised, as well as lockways put around the numerous dams. All bridges would have to be seven feet above the surface of the water.

Captain Wheeler expects to be in Janesville shortly to make arrangements for his tour of inspection and says that it will take some time as he wishes to make it most thorough, as the department will but one complete report on the matter.

When Captain Wheeler has gone over the route a meeting of the Rock River Improvement association will be held in this city to discuss manner and means of urging the ordering of the work which will connect Janesville with the Gulf.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY SERVES SUMMONS ON THE PASTOR

Suit is Brought by Attorney Because of Statements by Minister Concerning Law Enforcement.

La Crosse, Wis., April 16.—It has just developed that as Rex Granville Hoff Pike, who recently resigned as pastor of the First Congregational church was preparing to leave for Yankin, Wash., he was served with a summons in a civil suit against him by District Attorney Arnold. Mr. Pike, nevertheless, left for Yankin. The summons also makes O. H. Ingram, a well-known millionaire businessman and philanthropist, a defendant, but it has not been served upon him. Mr. Ingram is confined to his home by illness. Mr. Arnold has served no complaint, but it is assumed the action is for damages and vindication and is based on a sermon delivered last October by Mr. Pike in which charges were made against Arnold as to the enforcement of the saloon laws.

FIND MONEY SEWED IN DEADMAN'S SHIRT

Wisconsin Man Who Died in Arizona Had Small Fortune Sewed Up in Garment.

Marshallfield, Wis., April 16.—The remains of Oscar Anderson, a young man whose parents reside at Romeo, a little station north of here, arrived here Tuesday from Phoenix, Ariz., where the deceased died of blood poisoning. At the hospital where Anderson was taken during his illness he evaded answering any questions regarding himself and when told he could not recover, gave out the information that his parents resided at Romeo, and that the $25 in his purse could be had by the nurse attending him. He also requested that his undershirt be not removed during his stay in the hospital and when after his death the garment was removed it was found he had $2,700 in $100 bills sewed to the shirt near the armpits. The money was turned over to a brother of the deceased when he arrived for the remains.

Not One of His Studies.

Miss Blank's second grade was notorious throughout the school for a lamentable lack of discipline. It was in this grade that printed reports were first issued to the children. One day Tom came home, proudly bearing the first formal record of his progress in scholastic lines. His mother, having been a teacher, was pleased to note that her offspring's ratings were of high order, but his lawyer father, having scanned the slip minutely, said gravely:

"I don't see any record of deportment here, Thomas."

For a moment Tom looked blank, revolving the possible significance of the unknown term, then his face cleared.

"Oh," he said, "we don't have that in our room."—Dollmeater.

REMAINS IN PRISON TO SPITE HER FRIEND.
MRS. EMMA E. KERSHAW AND THE CHICAGO JAIL WHERE SHE IS IN LIEU OF PAYING A JUDGEMENT OF $195.

Chicago.—"Well, I'll never pay it," Mrs. Kershaw is alleged to have said when the judgement was presented to her.

"Well, I guess you will pay it," Mrs. McClelland is alleged to have replied. Here in a nutshell is the reason for the temporary imprisonment of Mrs. Emma E. Kershaw of 3360 Michigan boulevard and her present attitude seems to bear out the old saw, "When a woman says she won't she won't." For a week, now, Mrs. Kershaw has been held in custody by the deputy sheriff for not paying a judgement of $195 and costs of $14.30 in a suit for $10,000 damages brought by Mrs. Nell McClelland of 6620 Champlain avenue, over a personal encounter which Mrs. McClelland avers cost her a lock of two of her hair.

Mrs. McClelland said it was great fun to have Mrs. Kershaw in jail, and to know at the same time she would "just have to sooner or later pay that little judgement anyway."

Mrs. Kershaw's husband has been ready with the cash to have his wife released, and has been urging her in every way possible to pay the fine and give up her pride, but as yet he has not been able to dissuade her from her determination. When he made his daily visit to her yesterday, he said:

"Don't you see, Emma dear, you are only spitting yourself by staying here. Please let me pay the money and you come home again. It is such a beautiful day out. The sun is shining brightly, the trees are budding, the grass is getting green, and say, they are putting all the new Easter hats in the windows on State street—you ought to see them."

But Mrs. Kershaw had said she wouldn't, so she wouldn't even though it made the tears come to her eyes. Her husband talking about the Easter bonnets and the green grass.

Mrs. Kershaw is in delicate health. She is accompanied in her cell by a nurse maid, who waits on her and gives her attention.

"I am in jail for a principle," said Mrs. Kershaw. "I do not ask for any

ECZEMA

CAN BE PERMANENTLY CURED

If you are suffering from itching, burning, Eczema, Dermatitis, Ulcers, Pimples, Salt Rheum, etc., you can go on treating yourself externally for the rest of your natural life, and at least you will get temporary relief. This works out advantageously for the exploiters of patent remedies who claim that these diseases can be cured by lotions and ointments only. You may get cases for a while, and when the disease renews itself you go back to some remedy and buy more of this same remedy and thereby bring relief to the mill of its manufacture. But are you cured? You know best; you have tried. Dr. Taylor's treatment commences with the blood, attacks the disease at its source, as you would a polluted stream. If you have any doubt about it, take the treatment, and if it fails to cure you we will refund the purchase price. Send to our office, 1339 Arch Street, Philadelphia, for booklet. Sold by Smith Drug Co., Janesville, Wis., and by all first class druggists.

NOW IS THE TIME TO USE SPLIT LOG DRAG

Man Who Has Studied the Problem
Makes Suggestions to Rock County Farmers.

"Upon the farmers of Rock county
lies the responsibility for the good roads of the county. They should realize that every year they lose enough money due to the wear and tear upon horses and wagons occasioned
by driving over poor roads, to pay for macadamizing them."

"This statement was made by L. H.
Craig of Jacksonville, Ill., who has just travelled through a good portion of the county.

Roll the Roads.
"Roll your roads," was the gist of Mr. Craig's remarks. He urged that the road beds be kept split by this means, saying that nothing would bring Rock county in more money in the long run than good roads.

"I have just been taking a ride over Milwaukee road where it leaves Beloit," said Mr. Craig, "and that strip of highway would be worked with a split log. The split log drag would be just the thing needed, and the work would cost about eight cents a mile.
If every farmer would take three hours a month in front of his property, dragging the road in front of him, and bringing it up to standard in the middle of the winter, by autumn
Beloit would have improved its roads
fifty per cent."

Praises Split Log Drag.
The split log drag was highly praised by Mr. Craig. It could be made of two pieces of bridge plank,
said he, or if those were not at hand,
anyone could make a drag to answer the purpose by cutting down a sapling and splitting it in two parts lengthwise.

"Tell the people of Rock county,"
said Mr. Craig, "that road grading ought to be done between now and June 15. At present there is no vegetation in an alongside the roads. If you wait until after the June date and then begin work you will have a row of weeds dragged to the center of the road. These will decay and you can never pick a hard road bed over them."

"Another thing I would urge is that you don't grade your roads too high. Just make the slope high enough to shed the water. This will prove just as effective as if the slope were much steeper."

Convict Labor Urged.
"The best thing Wisconsin could do would be to follow the lead of Alabama and other southern states,
and take the prisoners from the state penitentiary and the county jails and set them at work road building. In Georgia, where this is carried out extensively the results are wonderful. Georgia probably has the finest roads in the world today, and she is getting them at practically no cost. The state has to feed the prisoners anyway and,
therefore, all the roads are costing
the state, in reality, are the salaries of a few extra guards. The prisoners welcome the opportunity of getting out into the air and the work has a salutary effect upon them."

Mr. Craig thought Beloit had made some good road improvements in the past nine years since he was last in the city. However, there was plenty of room yet for work and he urged the hearty co-operation of the farmers to push the good roads movement.

SCHOOL CHILDREN TO NAME STATE FLOWER

Official State Emblem Is to Be Voted
On in Schools Throughout the State on May 5.

On May 5, the official state flower
of Wisconsin will have been chosen,
and it will be either the violet, the wild rose, the trailing arbutus, or white water lily.

On Arbor and Bird Day, a year ago
at the request of the state superintendent, 11,441 boys and girls (and some grown folks) cast ballots in a primary election for the selection of four wild flower candidates, one of which was to be selected this year
as the state flower.

The idea arose in the office of the state superintendent and it was decided that the school children of the state and any adults who cared to participate should name the state flower. It was arranged that on Arbor and Bird Day, ballots should be cast in every school in Wisconsin, and a list of thirty-one wild flowers was submitted.

After the votes were counted and the votes sent into the state superintendent's office it was discovered that the violet had 26,505 votes, the wild rose 21,955 votes, the trailing arbutus 17,899 votes, and the white water lily 11,961 votes.

These were the highest figures in the contest and made those flowers candidates before the election to be held this Arbor Day. Everyone should take part in the contest this year, as it is the final and will determine the state flower.

The Arbor and Bird Day Manual for this year gives a description and some information concerning each of the candidate flowers and a short campaign argument by a champion of each flower.

INTOXICATED HUMAN DOOR-MAT
BADLY FRIGHTENED LADIES

Police Were Called to John E. Kennedy's Home Last Evening to Take Charge of Frank Smith.

After accumulating more "Peoria coverage" than was good for him last evening, Frank Smith (the availing member) wandered away to John E.
Kennedy's home at the intersection
of South Academy and Pleasant streets and after clambering up the doorstep, lay down upon the door-mat
and gave himself over to pleasant dreams. Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs.
Schmid had nearly reached their threshold and all but stepped upon the sleeper before they discovered his presence there. They did not recover from their scare until long after the police had taken Smith to the lock-up.
Judge Filled this morning gave him
the alternative of paying a fine and costs of $4.10 or spending six days in the county jail. He had no money and went to the battle. The same fate befell John Flynn, a local laboring man with a large family, and James Gordon who claims to be a laboring man.

BASEBALL SCORES ATTRACT THE FANS

Office Eagerly Read.

Several hundred fans read the baseball scores of the National and Amer-office window last evening. The re-were home from work to find out how the opening series of games were going. While the scores are not in the window each evening it will be impossible for the results to be given over the telephone to anxious fans.

Usually there is no one in the office
after six-thirty and if they are they are working and cannot stop to find the results and read them off over the come to the office to read them, but

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

TO LEARN how to relax and then practice that attainment, is of more value to the overdriven man or woman than any tonic or set of exercises that the doctor may prescribe.

Relaxation is a fine art and requires study to be accomplished with entire success. Often when you have thrown yourself down on your couch and think you are completely relaxed you will find that some muscle in your arm, your neck or somewhere in your body is still tense.

We used to have a set of exercises in a gymnastic class I once attended which were supposed to relax our entire bodies. We raised our hands above our heads and then slowly, bit by bit, first fingers, then wrists, then trunks, relaxed our whole bodies, finally tumbling in a heap upon the floor.

It seemed a very simple and rather silly thing to do, but the instructor declared that it was a very difficult exercise to do correctly and that many of the girls who swung the Indian clubs and performed some of the apparently more difficult gymnastic feats with ease and grace failed completely to do this as it should be done.
She also said that this one exercise did us more good than all the rest put together.

It is a very good plan for the business woman when she comes home at night to devote a few minutes—if possible before she enters—to complete relaxation.

I know a girl who works hard as a stenographer all day and yet comes home at night five nights out of the week, sits down at her typewriter and works hard all the evening.

All her friends have cheerfully prophesied that she would break down, but up to the present date she has not. She observed all the laws of health most carefully, has her cold bath of a morning, eight or nine hours' sleep every night and very regular meals, and never fails each day to devote a few minutes to complete relaxation. It is to this last fact that she herself especially credits her ability to disappoint her friends' kind predictions.

When she comes home at night, instead of picking up a book and reading a story while she waits for supper to be ready, she goes straight to her room, loosens her clothing, throws herself upon her couch and lies there flat on her back, with every muscle, as far as she is capable of having it, completely relaxed. She even says that in those few minutes she relaxes her brain and does not think.

If all hard working, overdriven women would follow this girl's plan and once or twice a day give themselves entire relaxation of mind and body there would be fewer nervous breakdowns than there now are.

Old Council Holds Its Last Meeting
That Evening—New One May Organize Thursday.

Not all of the newly elected city officials have thus far filed their bonds.
All must be forthcoming by Monday
as the old council holds its last meeting that evening to pass the seal of its approval upon them. The new council meets at the call of the city's chief executive, Mayor-Elect Carl has not thus far set the date but it will in all probability be next Thursday evening. At that time the rules and regular meeting nights will be determined; the standing committees appointed; and the offices of city engineer, health commissioner, janitor of the city hall, and street commissioner filled for the coming year. The first regular meeting of the new council for the transaction of routine business will probably be held on the following Monday. The old administration comes to be at midnight next Monday
evening.

There are, however, many honest

A thorough canvass of the warehouses here reveals nothing of importance to report in the way of transactions in cured goods, although two or three deals for '06 just escaped being made and the holders are still confident that they may yet get through. At Stoughton, Edgerton Simmons is still picking up a few of the remaining crops and reports
purchases as follows:

Mrs. Jennie Olson, 12a at 7c.

John Loveland, 7a at 8 1/2c.

At this writing the first real indication of warm, springlike weather presents itself, and if it continues the coming week will see growers busy in preparing plant beds. It is hardly probable that preparations will be made to increase the acreage this season, but it will hold its own with last season.

only 2 1/2 cases and 3 carloads of bundled goods the past week. Since last ceived.

On the Half Shell in Alaska.
Up in Alaska the nearest approach
they have to the oyster is the sea urchin. The redskins up there love the brutes. They catch them all day

JANESVILLE

The ideal food for school or workshop is

SHREDDED
WHEATCrisp, delicious shreds of baked wheat—
Try it for breakfast with milk or cream.

"She never said no such thing," I says. "She wouldn't swear if he was her husband four times over; she ain't that kind. And she ain't his wife nor his sister nor his sister-in-law nor his grandmother's cat's aunt neither. She's no relation to him and neither's the boy. Who's been giving you all this rigmarole?"

It seems he'd heard it from a feller that lived next door to Ebenezer; and the feller had heard it from somebody else that had got it from somebody else and so on and so on. Night's I could find out it had started from Hartley's telling me that the boy was a "brother outcast." Some idiot with poor ears and worse brains had thought he said "brother Oscar," and the whole string of yarns had sprouted from that. Shows you what good soil there is for planting lies down our way. It lies waiting for ten cents a barrel, the whole neighborhood would have been rich years ago.

All the time me and Nate was pow-wowing this way the yawl was sailing up the bay towing my skiff behind her. There was a nice fair wind and a smooth sea and 'twas no clear after the rain that we could see the hills across the bay. But no sign could we see of the Dora Bassett nor her passengers. I was getting more worried every minute.

We cruised along till we got abreast of the point from where the Old Home pier was in sight. But the sleep wasn't at the pier. No use going any farther, so we came about and began to beat back again the way we'd come. Scudder was worried too, but his worryment had caught him in the pocketbook; proves how disease will always get hold of a feller's tenderest place.

"Look here, Sol," says he; "do you call that Hartley? If I want to stay to my house if his chum's drowned?"

"I don't know," I says, impatient. "No, I guess not."

"Well now, he agreed to take it for a month and there's five days to run yet. Ain't he liable for them days?" he says.

I was feeling just mean enough to want somebody else to feel that way, so I answers:

"Well, you can't hold a lunatic, 'cording to law. And you and Hully Ann have agreed that he's crazy."

He thumped the boat's rail. "Crazy or not," says he, "can't afford to lose them days, I shan't give him back none of his money." Then he thought a minute and began to see a speck of comfort. "Maybe the shock of 'feller feller's drowning'll make him sick," he says. "Then he'll have to stay longer than the month."

Trust Nate Scudder to see a silver lining to any cloud—and then rip out the lining and put it in his pocket.

By this time he was bending in towards where the Neck Road comes down to the beach. And there on the shore was a feller hailing us. And when we got close in it turned out to be Hartley himself.

He was glad enough to see me, but when he found that Van and Lord James had turned up missing he was in a state. He'd been kind of scared when we didn't come back during the night and had walked down to the beach in the morning to see if he could sight us.

We headed off shore again. Nate watched Hartley pretty close and I suppose when he seen that the Twin didn't show any symptoms of getting sick, he began to worry again. He got out a piece of pencil and an old envelope and commenced to figure.

"Mr. Hartley," says he, after awhile; "about them lady friends of yours over to Eastwell. Do you call 'em? They're going to like where they are? Seems to me a place that's as easy to run away from as that ain't the best place for a boys' school. If they was on an island now, the scholars couldn't run off. I know a nice island they could have 'em. Fact is, I own it—that is, Hully owns it; it's in her name. That's it over there."

Hartley didn't answer. I looked where Nate was pointing.

"Oh!" says I. "Horsefoot Bar. That's a healthy place for a school. Might do for a reform school maybe, if you wasn't particular how the reforming was done."

Horsefoot Bar is a little island about five miles from the Old Home House, a mile and a half from the mainland, and two feet from the jumping-off place. By the help of Providence, decent weather, a horse, two whips, and a boat, you can make it from Wellmouth depot in three hours. And when you have made it, you can set in the sand and hang on to your hat and listen to the loneliness. I'd forgot that Scudder owned it. When him and I sailed up that morning we'd passed it on the outside; now we was between it and the beach.

"It's a nice dry place," says Nate, arguing, "and you might live there forever and nobody could run away." "Humph!" says I, thinking of something I'd seen in a newspaper; "Hully's got all them recommendations."

Hartley was looking at the bar now. All at once he grabbed me by the arm and pointed.

"Sol," he says, "what's that sticking up over the point there? There, behind those trees? Isn't it a boat's mast?"

I looked, and looked—once—more.

From where we was you could see a part of Horsefoot Bar that was out of sight from the rest of the bay. As I say, I looked. Then I gave the tiller a shove that brought the boom across with a slam. It took Nate's hat with it and cracked him on the bald spot like thumping a ripe watermelon. Nate grabbed for the hat and I drove the yawl for Horsefoot Bar. I'd spied the Dora Bassett's mast over the sand-spit.

In a jiffy we see her plain. She was lying on her side in a little cove, just as the tide had left her. Her canvas was down in a heap, partly on deck and partly overboard, but she didn't seem to be hurt none. I beached the yawl just alongside of her, dropped the sail, chucked over the anchor and jumped over myself. Hartley and Scudder followed. We was yelling like loons.

Up through the bunch of scrub places we tore, still hollering. And then, from away off ahead somewhere, come the answer. I was so tickled I could have stood on my head.

In a minute here comes Lord James to meet us. His lordship looked yellow and faded, like a wilted sunflower, and his whiskers seemed to be running to seed. But his dignity was on deck all right.

"Mr. Artley," says he, touching what was left of his hat; "ape you're well, sir."

"Where's Van?" asked Hartley, brisk.

"Mr. Van Brunt, sir? Up at the house, waiting for you, sir."

"The house?" says Hartley.

"The house?" says I. Then I remembered.

There is a house on Horsefoot Bar. It was built by old man Marcellus Barry, and in Marcellus' day they built houses, didn't stick 'em together with wall paper and a mortgage, like they do now. Consequence is that, though the winter weather on Horsefoot made Marcellus lay down a considerable spell ago, his house still stands, as pert and saucy an old gambled-up place as ever was. The house was there, and Scudder owned it. Likewise he owned the sheds and barn in the back, and the beach plum bushes, and the beach grass and the poverty grass and the world-without-end of sand that all these things was stuck up in. As for the live stock, that was seven thousand hoptoads, twenty million sand fleas, and green-heads and mosquitoes for ever and ever, amen.

We fell into the water's wake and waded through the sand hummocks up to the house. And there on the piazza, sitting in a busted cane-seat chair with his feet cooled up on the railing and the regulation cigar in his mouth, was Van Brunt, kind of damp and wrinkled so far as clothes went, but otherwise as serene and chipper a Robinson Crusoe as the average man is likely to strike in one life time.

"-Wa'n't we glad to see him! And he was just as glad to see us."

"Hello, skipper," says he, reaching out his hand. "So you got ashore all right. Good enough. I was a bit fearful for you after you left us last night."

After I left him! I liked that. And he was fearful for me.

"Humph!" says I. "I had a notion that 'twas you that did the leaving. Talk about dropping an acquaintance! I never was dropped like that afore! Look here, Mr. Van Brunt, afore you and me go to see together again we'll have a little lesson in running rigging. I want to learn you what a mainsheet is."

"Oh," he says, careless like, "I guess I found it, after a while. At any rate it's a rope I cut it. I cut all the ropes in sight."

"You did?" says I, with my mouth open.

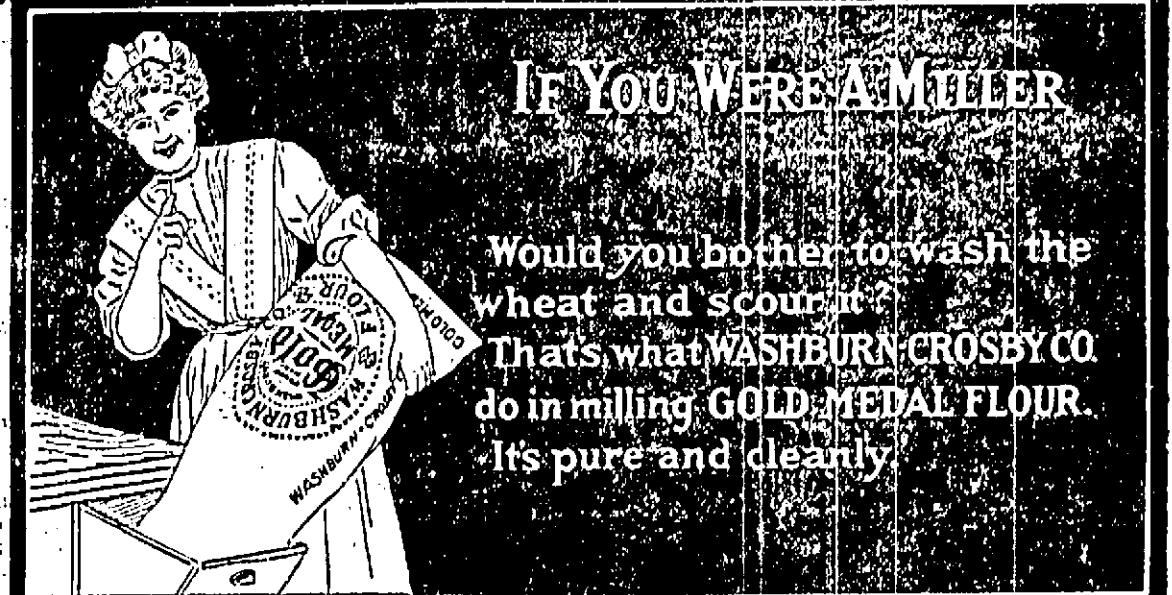

"Yes. That's an acrobatic boat of yours! It seemed to want to turn somersets. I judged that that sail made it top-heavy so I told James to take the sail down. He didn't know how but we decided that the ropes must have something to do with it. So I cut 'em, one after the other, and the sail came down."

ST. LOUIS BOY KIDNAPED.
Citizen Child is Son of One of the City's Oldest Families.

St. Louis, Apr. 16.—Whether James Shepard Cabanne, seven years old, was stolen by kidnapers, who intend to demand a ransom for his return, as did the abductors of Willie Whittle, or whether he was spirited away from the home of his grandmother, is a question the whole police department is trying to solve to-day.

The boy is a son of one of the oldest of the aristocratic French families of St. Louis and his grandmother's home is in the Cabanne district, the sweetest residences neighborhood in this city.

Shortly after he disappeared, Mrs. Cabanne was called on the telephone by a man who said he had been paid four dollars a day to help put the boy on a train going to Louisville. The stranger gave no further information, his mother lives in Louisville with her sister, Mrs. W. M. Campbell.

Mrs. Sherman's invitations to a Tea Stir Strife in Big Woman's Organization.

Washington, Apr. 16.—The row over the office of president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, for which Mrs. Matthew T. Scott of Bloomington, Ill., and Mrs. William Cummins Story of New York are the leading candidates, was increased yesterday by Mrs. James S. Sherman, wife of the vice-president of the United States.

Mrs. Sherman issued cards for a tea to be given to-morrow afternoon in the New Willard for the purpose of meeting personally members of the organization. Mrs. McLean says positively that she will not go to the tea and it looks like every member of the McLean clan who cares anything for her "political" future in the society had better not be caught going to or coming away from that tea.

Mrs. Sherman, it must be said, was entirely innocent of arousing such a storm of wrath when she arranged the tea, but it so happened, being entirely ignorant of the fuss which is now going on in the society because a candidate was put up in opposition to Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Sherman unwittingly invited Mrs. Story, as the state regent of New York, to make the introductions of the Daughters to Mrs. Sherman.

Mrs. Scott to-day said she had not made up her mind whether she would attend the tea or stay away. Her best friends are trying to persuade her that she should attend the tea.

"As president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution," said Mrs. McLean, "I want to say that the great state of Illinois unanimously endorsed Mrs. Scott for the office of president general last fall. The state brought that endorsement before the present president general, hoping that she could support it. Knowing the fine qualities and ability of Mrs. Scott, the present president general was only too glad to express herself favorably toward Mrs. Scott then, as she does now. I have no more doubt of Mrs. Scott's ultimate election than I have that I am now holding the office."

"BLACK HAND" IN MINNESOTA.
Spring Valley Police Capture Six in Raid on Band.

Spring Valley, Minn., Apr. 16.—Six men, alleged members of a "black hand" society, are under arrest here charged with attempting to extort money from Emil Dreckman, living 14 miles south of here by threatening to kill him and kidnap his child.

On April 7, Dreckman received a letter demanding that he pay $5,000 or his child would be stolen and he would be killed. Dreckman armed himself heavily and on the night of April 9 a crowd gathered around his home and renewed the demands. After several shots had been exchanged, the would-be hold-ups and kidnapers fled.

It is said that secret meetings have been held for several months by this gang, consisting of from 15 to 20 men and boys. It is expected that other arrests will follow.
